Montréal, June 3, 2026 — The Orchestre symphonique de Montréal and its Music and Artistic Director, Rafael Payare, are delighted to unveil their 2026 summer program. The OSM will present five free outdoor concerts, four of them conducted by Rafael Payare. The Orchestra will also make a stop in Joliette, as part of the Festival de Lanaudière, for four open-air performances conducted by Rafael Payare and the French conductor Stéphane Denève. Before setting off on a tour of European festivals, the Orchestra will also present its unmissable concert at the Esplanade of the Olympic Park, marking their 50th anniversary this year. “Summer at the OSM is the perfect opportunity to hear your Orchestra in all its splendour and energy, in a relaxed atmosphere. It is truly wonderful to see thousands of people joining us at the Esplanade of the Olympic Park and in the parks of Montreal and the surrounding area for memorable concerts. It is essential for me to offer these free concerts to as many people as possible, and the wonderful welcome the public gives us every year fills me with joy.”
